- 86. Understanding begins to swell <sup>173</sup> by prayer, which pierces so That it assaults mercy itself, and frees all faults. <sup>174</sup>
- 87. As it is a spare life, look you, it fits my humour well, 175 With smiling plenty, and fair prosperous days! 176
- 88. Th'endeavour of this present breath may buy<sup>177</sup> The very lifeblood of our enterprise.<sup>178</sup>
- 89. But I will tarry; the fool will stay, and let the wise man fly,<sup>179</sup> To pay this debt of love but to a brother.<sup>180</sup>
- 90. And now let's go hand in hand, not one before another,<sup>181</sup> Swifter than the moon's sphere.<sup>182</sup>
- 91. Smiling at grief: 183 Awake, awake! 184 In delay there lies no plenty. 185
- 92. And then the moon, like to a silver bow <sup>186</sup> Upon the place beneath: it is twice blest. <sup>187</sup>
